

Electrical Heated Chamber Furnaces

We construct and manufacture electrically heated chamber ovens for a variety of applications. These can be used as annealing Lehr as well as for hardening of glasses.

Standard equipment includes programmable temperature control and air circulation for uniform temperature distribution.

Additionally, the oven atmosphere is controlled during firing processes.

